

The U.S. Capitol (top), houses the legislative branch of the United States government. The White House (bottom) is the official residence of the president.

It also serves as a place for state functions and events and a museum showcasing American history. (Washington, D.C.)