

Roadrunner

- The roadrunner can run up to 15 miles per hour on its long legs.
- The roadrunner has small wings and rarely flies.
- Builds its nest in a cactus or thorn bush and lays 3 to 8 white eggs.
- The roadrunner was officially adopted as New Mexico's state bird on March 16, 1949.