

The composer Beethoven believed pouring cold water over his head while he worked stimulated his brain.