

General George Washington was elected the first President of the United States of America