

PARDIS SABETI

Pardis Sabeti is a computational geneticist. Her expertise is in developing methods to detect evolution in the genomes of infectious diseases, and developing models for scientists to track the evolution and transmission of pathogens around the globe and to develop interventions.