

Pasqueflower

- The prairie crocus or pasqueflower is South Dakota's state flower.
- This flower blooms in spring, around Easter ('pasque' is French for Easter).
- It has lavender blossoms with yellow centers and is a member of the buttercup family.
- It was made the state flower on March 5, 1903.