

Big Bear is happy. The year has passed, and he's got his plane. It's a lot like last year's; not very inspiring and not very memorable. But people bought it before, and they'll probably buy it again. By playing it safe, he's insured his company's survival.

