

White-tailed Jackrabbit

The white-tailed jackrabbit lives in grassy fields, prairies, desert scrubland and farmland in mid to western Canada and the U.S. They are also found in California and Kansas. An extremely fast animal, jackrabbits can run at more than 30 mph (48 km/h). They have large back feet for leaping and use this ability to escape predators.

©Sheri Amsel • www.exploringnature.org