African American Flag

In 2000, artist David Hammons created a work called African-American Flag, which is held by the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. Based on the standard U.S. flag and Pan-African flag colors , its stripes are black and red, the field is green, and the stars on the field are black.