

The fairies of the air took pity on the little mermaid and offered her the chance to join them as they watched over and protected humankind. She very happily agreed.

