

Korean Traditional House

Hanok is a traditional Korean house. It is not a single structure like a western-style house, but rather a group of buildings with a central courtyard. It includes separate sleeping quarters for men, women and children, and servants.

