

The Japanese flag

- white background with a red circle in the center that represents the sun.
- In Japanese, it is called Hinomaru ("circle of the sun")
- The flag has been in use for over a thousand years.
- It was officially adopted as the Japanese flag on January 27, 1870