

Volcanoes are mountains that are formed by molten rock and lava. They can be active, dormant, or extinct.