

Umbrella bird

Umbrella birds are found in south and central American rain forests. They are black in colour. They have crest on their head, which looks like an umbrella, and hence they are called umbrella bird.