

One day the Nabataeans discovered that people in the big cities wanted frankincense, which is a type of perfume. The Nabataeans knew that frankincense came from the countries of Yemen and Oman. They traveled to these countries by camel caravans.