

Atargatis comes from one of the oldest known mermaid stories, recorded in 1000 B.C. Assyria. Atargatis was a goddess who unintentionally killed a shepherd after falling in love with him. Ashamed of this terrible deed, she jumped into a lake where she took the form of a mermaid.