

To pirates, gold was more desirable than goods, which had to be sold or bartered.